CASTLE ROCK PARKS AND TRAILS FOUNDATION OVERVIEW

Marne Hansen, Executive Director of the Castle Rock Parks and Trails Foundation, introduced board members Acey Holmes and Juli Watkins and provided an overview of the nonprofit organization. The group works to enhance Castle Rock's parks, trails and open space by partnering with the Parks and Recreation Department. Previous projects have included funding the Legacy Trail at Gateway Mesa Open Space. Last year's efforts focused on fundraising $1.3 million to support Castle Rock's first fully-inclusive playground at Butterfield Crossing Park. Chair Rebecca Dunn commended the organization for their huge success making Possibilities Playground become a reality.

TOUR OF LOST CANYON RANCH

Director Jeff Brauer and Assistant Director Jeff Smullen provided a tour of Lost Canyon Ranch Open Space. The land acquisition of $15 million was made possible in partnership with Douglas County, Castle Rock Water, the Douglas Land Conservancy, The Conservation Fund and Great Outdoors Colorado.

The open space features a wide variety of environmental resources including wildlife, rocky canyons, Willow Creek and unique ecology and riparian habitat. A single family residence built in the 1970's sits south of the canyon, along with stables and a riding arena. An additional caretaker home also exists closer to the entrance, but will be removed for future potential trailhead placement. Lost Canyon Ranch also features the archeologically significant Franktown Cave and sits adjacent to Castlewood Canyon State Park.

The majority of the property is protected through a conservation easement held by the Douglas Land Conservancy. The property features three building envelopes that will be available for future development and will allow for placement of user amenities such as bathrooms, parking, etc. The department will need to work closely with DLC to determine usage types for the overall site.

To develop the property's master plan, the department has hired contractor Wenk Associates. The firm held a meeting with adjacent neighbors in September. While the neighbors expressed concern over the potential for increased traffic, they were also relieved the site wasn't purchased for future development. Another neighborhood meeting will be held on Tuesday, Oct. 22 at the home on site, and a community-wide public meeting will be held on Tuesday, Nov. 12 at Cantril School to gather feedback for the planning process.
