Historical Statement of Significance

The building is significant for its contribution to the development of Castle Rock. It was the first county Courthouse of Douglas County from 1874-1890, when a new larger courthouse was constructed. It also was also the offices for the Castle Rock Journal. Through the years the building has had many uses. As the town developed the lot of it original construction became very valuable, since it was located on the current Courthouse Square.

In the 1920s it was moved east from its original location so that the new, more modern brick building could be constructed.

Heritage: this building reflects the early history of Castle Rock.

Project Description

The project being proposed is part of a remodel and update of the apartment located in the upstairs. The upstairs part of the building will have the windows replace with quality windows. The windows that will be replaced have been in the building and are out of date for safety and energy efficiency.

The windows that will be installed will not only be more energy efficient and safe, they will be modeled after the original windows that are currently installed to keep the historical integrity in place. A total of 9 windows will be replaced. The 2 windows on the lower/street level will not be replaced at this time.

Elevations proposed
