Description

Portable Counter with Black Hook & Loop Receptive Exterior

This portable counter is an ideal display for trade shows, presentations, in-store displays, and other promotions. A portable counter, also known as a promotional counter, is great for providing samples, demonstrating products, or holding informative literature. A portable counter can also offer a great reception point, giving event attendees a convenient place to approach your exhibit. Designed to be lightweight and portable, this demonstration counter takes just minutes to set up. A convenient backpack is provided to make transportation easy.

Portable counter features a pop-up frame with magnetic connectors that snap into place when expanded. Blackhook & loop receptive fabric panels attach with velcro to cover the frame, and provide a display space for a variety of accessories. Attach any combination of literature holders, sign frames, and posters easily with hook and loop fasteners. The top counter and internal shelves are made out of MDF with a wooden finish for a durable, yet attractive display.
