Implementing the Community Vision through Development Activities

Development Tales by the Director

"There are risks and costs to action. But they are far less than the long range risks of comfortable inaction."

~~ John F. Kennedy

Castle Rock is a community that is constantly moving forward. Many great ideas and implementation strategies occurred because staff and community leadership took action. No one sat back waiting for things to happen. As an example, prior to 2008 the southwest corner of Perry and 2nd Street was a gravel and dirt lot filled with overgrown weeds. The adjoining creek was scruffy and unused. The intersection at Wilcox and 2nd Streets had a traffic signal and development on the west side of Wilcox that was similar to a 1950's streetscape – clearly not a good first impression for a downtown filled with history and heritage representing the American west. Today, those same areas contain a beautiful and vibrant park, the center of downtown activity, adjacent to two buildings with mixed-use commercial, office space and apartments that will bring life to a once underutilized area of downtown.

DEVELOPMENT TALES

he recent changes in downtown started with a community vision to revitalize downtown followed by creation of the Downtown Development Authority and adoption of the Downtown Plan of Development. The adopted vision initiated a series of conversations on increasing investment. Council adoption of the Design Guidelines and subsequent Downtown Overlay District provided investment teams with certainty and a path to succeed. Stated differently, the vision led to action, and action led to implementation. Is the vision and downtown plan finished? No, we are just getting started.

he Downtown Plan was intended to initially focus on the downtown core, those areas south of 5th Street and north of South Street. Minor improvements, mostly aesthetic, were completed including mid-block crossings, flower boxes, light pole banners, and street patios. Installation of overhead lights in the 300 block of Wilcox added interest at night. Yet, it was not until significant changes around Festival Park started that investment teams recognized the Town was willing to step forward with community funds to make improvements and willing to partner with investment teams that things started to happen. All entities involved, starting with the Downtown Advisory Committee in 2007 through today's Downtown Alliance Board, should be extremely proud of what has occurred, and what is about to occur in the core of downtown. Between the Town and private partnerships, nearly $80 million was invested in downtown within the past three years. An unprecedented accomplishment for a Town the size of Castle Rock. High five to all involved!

DEVELOPMENT TALES

The most recent development activity report shows that we are ahead of last year's residential permit activity. Through June 2017 staff issued 650 residential permits, while through June 2018 staff issued 784 residential permits, an increase of 134 permits. Staff averages approximately 100 residential permits each month so we are a full month ahead of last year's pace. Staff issued 1,264 residential permits in 2017, so unless there is a significant slowdown in the 2nd half of 2018, we anticipate exceeding the number of residential permits issued in 2017. This is good news as it relates to the local economy and helps with the collection of impact fees for Town services. Commercial activity in 2018 is behind activity in 2017, mostly based upon a drop in tenant improvements and finishing of projects in Promenade. Stay tuned!
