What's up, CRAC-Heads!

Quick update from your humble President. Don't want to keep you in the dark... As Natalie Raffield put it so eloquently in her email, "Hold onto your horses ... CRAC is comin'."

Several members of the board met for three hours on Saturday afternoon for a strategic planning to discuss strategies moving forward. We worked on our mission statement, our vision, and other details congruent with a 501C3 organization. And just so you know, we are still waiting on our tax paperwork from the state, so we're still a freshly-minted nonprofit! Rome wasn't built in a day, ya know!

The Downtown Alliance has received our recommendations for the mural project in Castle Rock, and is communicating with the artist we recommended about next steps, execution, etc. They were supposed to meet with the artist today, but due to inclement weather, the meeting has been rescheduled until next week. I will let you know as soon as a plan is in place for the mural.

We have also been in contact with the artist who will be carving the tree stump in Festival Park, and are awaiting a mockup concept. I will share that with you as well as soon as it becomes available.

We are in the process of redesigning our website — <http://castlerockartcoop.com> — and will be updating it with membership information as soon as that language is written.

And, as always, if you'd like to get involved, and would like to take a leadership role in this organization, please reach out to discuss board and committee spots that are available. This is a team effort, and everybody's invited to participate. Everybody's got a life, a job, a family, etc., and we're doing the best we can with what we've got.

Thanks for your patience while we try to get this spaceship off the ground...

TOODLES,
Nick Lucey
