A message from Chief of Police Jack Cauley

Castle Rock continues to be one of the safest and fastest-growing communities in the country. To achieve this, we build upon our One-By-One Policing philosophy through our three strategic pillars:

People: We invest in our team members by providing quality training and the best equipment available. We are laser-focused on creating a healthy organizational culture where our members can thrive.

Innovation: The ability to innovate is key. We embrace the latest technology and best practices to solve problems and address crime.

Community: Policing is a team effort. Creating safe communities must involve trust and partnerships. We are grateful for Castle Rock's support and don't take it for granted.

Pathfinders: Where we've been, where we are and where we're heading

From February 17th through the 19th, the Castle Rock Police Department hosted a Pathfinders session, welcoming law enforcement partners from Brooklyn Center, MN, and Overland Park, KS. The multi-day collaboration provided an opportunity for visiting agencies to learn more about CRPD's approach to strengthening the policing profession both within the department and throughout the community with our One-By-One policing philosophy.

Pathfinders is a facilitated, yet informal information-sharing experience designed to encourage open, honest, and thoughtful dialogue among participating agencies. The program creates space for reflection and conversation, allowing policing professionals to share ideas, discuss challenges, and learn from one another's experiences.

During their visit, members of the visiting agencies connected with personnel from across the department to ask questions, engage in discussion, and gain insight into CRPD's practices, leadership philosophy, and organizational culture. The experience highlights the value of collaboration and mutual learning in advancing the policing profession.
